SUPREME HEADQUARTERS
Allied Expeditionary Force, July 11.—U. S. troops and tanks pounded today to a point within two miles of St. Lo, key road hub forming the Germans' central fortress in Normandy, gaining two to three miles in a furious new offensive spreading the American attack over a 40-mile front.

Spearheads of Lt.-Gen. Omar N. Bradley's American First Army, jumping off under the screen of a pulverizing artillery barrage, reached the outskirts of Luzerne and Mesnil-Rouxville, just north of the road junction in the heart of Normandy.

The attack was coordinated from the north and northeast of St. Lo. Fall of that city of 15,000 would force a German withdrawal from the remainder of the Cherbourg peninsula and Nazi lines were under steady, heavy pressure along a front curving 40 miles to the sea. The attack opened after hundreds of field guns bellowed steadily for hours, wrecking German hedgehog positions and numbing the nerves of even some of the most fanatical Nazis holding the line.

British-Canadian forces to the east meanwhile cleaned out nests of resistance southwest of Caen, running into stiffening opposition. Other doughboys advanced one to two miles elsewhere on the front winding across Cherbourg peninsula, making flank penetrations threatening to force a German withdrawal southward along the peninsula's west coast.

The German radio asserted that German troops had reentered La Haye Du Puits, strategic road center captured by the American First Army Sunday.

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, Allied ground commander in France, declared 54,000 prisoners have been taken since D-day, and told his American-British-Canadian force that much has been achieved "with definite and concrete gains."

"We are firm and secure," he asserted.

Yank Ships Shell Guam, Rota; Raids Grow In Intensity

Guam, pre-war U. S. Pacific naval base captured by the Japanese four days after the Pearl Harbor attack, and other major links in the Marianas island chain, are plainly marked for American invasion or neutralization.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced light cruisers and destroyers shelled Guam Saturday and carrier-based planes swept in the next day to blast shore installations on Guam and Rota, less than 150 miles south of newly-conquered Saipan.

Tokyo radio announced "a very powerful enemy fleet consisting of two aircraft carriers and more than 30 cruisers and destroyers are plying the waters northwest of Tinian Island," within artillery range of Saipan.

LONDON HIT AGAIN BY FLYING BOMBS

LONDON, July 11.—Flying bombs started slamming down on London and southern England today after the capital's first free night from the German terror weapon in almost a month. The attacks were below the peak of previous assaults. While the buzz-bomb attack continued on southern England even these assaults were not as heavy as they have been and damage and casualties were reported light.

An alert was sounded in London during the night, but it did not bother the blitz-hardened residents a great deal. They experienced great relief, however, through the absence of the terrifying "buzz" which makes every flying bomb anywhere near sound as if it were coming to the bedroom window. While there was no immediate explanation for the letup in the assault on London, coastal watchers noted that the flying bombs were approaching from a more easterly direction than heretofore.

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

THE new and heavy attacks on the islands of Guam and Rota by American warships and bombers are a natural accompaniment of our capture of the neighboring island of Saipan—the strategic air and naval base which has been one of the enemy's main shields not only for Japan proper but for the Philippines.

The war is moving very fast in the Pacific. The fresh assaults on Guam and Rota certainly presage neutralization of these bases and it's not unlikely that we shall occupy them. I believe we may expect similar operations in the immediate future against other major Japanese bases in this inner defense arc—Truk, Yap, Palau and Bonin, all of which are now within reach of our big bombers.

But after we have neutralized and perhaps occupied these islands, where do we go? It would indeed be interesting to know what ideas are being nursed by those two energetic and resourceful old campaigners, Gen. MacArthur and Admiral Nimitz, now that we have possession of Saipan. Certainly what this pair has in mind could bring no joy to a harassed Japanese government which twelve days ago, during the height of the bloody struggle for Saipan, broadcast to its public:

"We, the 100,000,000 people of Japan, must realize now, if ever, that the outcome of the battle of the Marianas (the group of which Saipan is the main island) will exert a very serious influence upon the future war situation."

WELL, what "very serious influence" is likely to eliminate from this volcanic island which American forces have won at heavy cost?

Reds Menace East Prussian Frontier

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, July 11.—Russian troops streaming deep into Lithuania thrust within striking distance today of the East Prussian frontier and moved swiftly toward the Baltic coast in wide enveloping advances which threatened to trap two German armies in the north.

Southward in old Poland, other army groups beat toward the rail center of Bialystok and directly menaced Pinsk. The Germans reported a massive new Soviet offensive in Romania north of the rail center of Iasi—a drive threatening the Galati gap and the Ploesti oil fields, already extensively ruined by American bombs.

The Moscow communique said the Germans suffered "tremendous losses" in a general Russian forward surge all the way from the Latvian border to the middle of the Pripyat marshes, some 400 miles southward.

Drive Wedge Into Lithuania
A powerful wedge was driven into Lithuania at about the midway point of the 100-mile battlefield between Daugavpils, in southeastern Latvia, and the by-passed and doomed German stronghold of Wilno—scene now of bloody street fighting.

Advancing not less than 28 miles yesterday, Col. Gen. Ivan C. Bagration's Baltic troops cut the highway between Daugavpils and the Lithuanian city of Kaunas in a drive within 120 miles of the Baltic port of Riga, capital of Latvia.

Bagration's forces also penetrated to within 20 miles of Daugavpils in a frontal assault.

Ten miles westward from Wilno, rampaging Soviet soldiers overran the rail junction of Landwarow on the route to Kaunas—an advance that supported British press dispatches that Red army vanguards were within 60 miles of East Prussia. The Swedish newspaper Morgon Tidningen reported the Germans were employing East Prussia civilians.

BRITISH ARMY CAEN ATTACKS BOGGING DOWN

Strong German Resistance
Faces Invaders Along
Orne West Bank

(By Associated Press)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS,
Allied Expeditionary Force, July 11.—The British Second Army's attack begun yesterday in the Caen sector bogged down today in the face of strong German resistance along the western bank of the Orne river while the American drive down the Cherbourg peninsula registered small but consistent gains of from one to two miles.

Indications were seen in the American sector that flank penetrations from the direction of Carantan and the Vire river were forcing the Germans to withdraw south along the west coast of the peninsula.

South of Caen the Germans were putting up a furious fight to stem the drive of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery. Heavy fighting raged south of the Orne and Orne rivers. Field dispatches reported the destruction of 30 to 35 German tanks, but the Nazis pushed the British out of Malot. The British withdrew to the north of the town under heavy mortar and artillery fire.

Weather Bad Factor

The German position west of the Orne appeared hopeless in the long run, but the fanatical Nazi opposition against the drive of both the British and the Canadians was forcing the fighting line back temporarily in some spots and limiting progress to a few hundred yards in others.

Part of the loss of power of Montgomery's punch was caused by bad weather, which made it impossible for the Allied air force to put in strong, close support.

Canadian troops cleared all the Germans from the north bank of the Orne river down to its junction with the Orne. The British clung fiercely to Hill 112, just north of Esquay, which controls land observation between the two rivers.

DE GAULLE GROUP ACCEPTED BY U. S.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—President Roosevelt announced today that he is accepting the French national committee headed by Gen. Charles De Gaulle as the authority for civil administration of liberated France.

Mr. Roosevelt's new attitude toward the committee, the chief executive made clear at his news conference, results from the talks which he had last Thursday, Friday and Saturday with De Gaulle.

There is no change, the President said, in the policy of this government in not recognizing the French committee as a provisional government.

In its capacity of "de facto authority," the committee will be under the general supervision of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, allied supreme commander. Eisenhower will have the decision when a city or town or department can be released from military administration and turned over to the committee.

DEMOCRATS TALK PLANK PROBLEMS

Wallace's Position Is No
Clearer Following His
Confab With Boss

(By Associated Press)

Democrats talked platform and vice presidential problems today while Republicans looked forward to a pooling of the election-winning abilities of their 26 governors for the benefit of Thomas E. Dewey's race for the presidency.

Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, majority leader in the house and chairman of the Democratic convention platform committee, expressed confidence that one plank will call for "sound and international action to prevent war and to assure permanent peace."

The convention starts a week from tomorrow in Chicago but a two-hour visit between President Roosevelt and Vice President Wallace at the White House yesterday produced no new information on how Wallace stands for renomination.

Whether Mr. Roosevelt, the expected nominee for a fourth term, requests Wallace's selection will be of great consequence, but Wallace was emphatic in saying the only subject they discussed was China when he last returned.

At Montgomery, Ala., Gov. Chauncey Sparks declared southerners who want to supplant Wallace are unwise in not uniting behind one candidate alone. He said he thought Sen. Alben Barkley of Kentucky would be a good bet politically.

A conference of Republican governors, which was disclosed by Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen of Idaho as having been set for Kansas City Aug. 2-3, was discussed at the national convention which nominated two state executives—Dewey of New York and John W. Bricker of Ohio, for vice president.

Reluctant But Will Serve As "Good Soldier"

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 11.—President Roosevelt declared today he will "reluctantly, but as a good soldier" accept renomination by the Democratic national convention and serve another four years in the White House if elected.

In a letter to Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan, Mr. Roosevelt said he personally wanted to retire and avoid public responsibilities and the publicity that "follows every step" of the President.

"But if the people command me to continue in this office and in this war," he added, "I have as little right to withdraw as the soldier has to leave his post in the line."

The President's letter was made public at a White House news conference which grew tense with expectancy when Mr. Roosevelt told 99 reporters gathered in his oval office that the doors had been locked. A reporter said that must mean something important was coming.

Another reporter raised the familiar fourth-term question and, grinning, Mr. Roosevelt disclosed that this time the big news was coming. He then read his exchange of letters with Hannegan. Hannegan wrote the President in a letter dated July 10 that enough delegates to the party convention starting a week from tomorrow are committed to his renomination to assure it.

"If the convention should carry this out, and nominate me for the presidency, I shall accept," Mr. Roosevelt wrote Hannegan. "If the people elect me, I will serve."

He then read his exchange of letters with Hannegan. Hannegan wrote the President in a letter dated July 10 that enough delegates to the party convention starting a week from tomorrow are committed to his renomination to assure it.

"The President said he would prefer to retire but 'I will accept and serve in this office if I am so ordered by the commander-in-chief of us all—the sovereign people of the United States.'"

The President sprang the news of his official intentions on a news conference the morning when a reporter asked him if he had anything to say about the convention.

Grinning, the President replied that the reporter was only guessing—and said this time he was right. The President said, however, that he would not "run" for reelection in the accepted political sense "but if the people command me to continue in this office and in this war, I have as little right to withdraw as the soldier has to leave his post in the line."

With that statement the President was referring to his war-time role of commander-in-chief of the armed forces.

"For myself, I do not want to run," Mr. Roosevelt said. "By next spring I shall have been president and commander-in-chief of the armed forces for 12 years—three times elected by the people of this country under the American constitutional system."

Thoughts Turn To Hudson
"From the personal point of view, I believe that our economic system is on a sounder, more human basis than it was at the time of my first inauguration x x x."

"After many years of public service, therefore, my personal thoughts have turned to the day when I could return to civil life. All that is within me cries out to go back to my home on the Hudson river, to avoid public responsibilities, and to avoid also the publicity which in our democracy follows every step of the nation's chief executive."

That would be his office, Mr. Roosevelt said, but he assured Hannegan he would forego if the convention drafted him and the people elected him for another term.

Mr. Roosevelt made no mention of the second place on the ticket and the status of Vice President Wallace.

Find Two Parents Guilty Of Neglecting Children

LISBON, July 11.—Paul and Bessie Higgins of East Liverpool, charged with neglect and abandonment of four minor children, were given a hearing yesterday in juvenile court and found guilty.

Higgins was bound over to the September grand jury under $1,000 bond. Mrs. Higgins was given a suspended sentence of 12 months in the Marysville reformatory.

Sentence was suspended on condition that she care for the two youngest children and on condition of future good behavior. The two older children have been found homes by the court.

Pleading guilty to a charge of neglecting and abandoning three small children, one of them a 16-month old baby, Mrs. Harold Foden of East Liverpool was taken to the Youngstown jail to await the arrival of her husband, who is in service, on Thursday, when sentence will be imposed.

PRESIDENTIAL DILEMMA

There is a lively possibility that President Roosevelt may turn up in several places during the next four months where, as a candidate for reelection, he will have the advantage of a more dramatic setting than Gov. Dewey will have as his Republican opponent. At the moment, there is a rumor that he may choose to be somewhere in the European theater of war when the Democratic convention convenes and make his acceptance speech from abroad.

Naturally, this bothers Republicans, but it is difficult to see what they can do about it—as Republicans. There is a strong case, nevertheless, to be made out for Mr. Roosevelt's continued presence in the United States as a matter of national security, aside from all campaign considerations. Aside from the most pressing emergencies, he should not be expected by the leaders of Allied governments—and certainly is not expected by his own people—to expose himself to unnecessary risk.

This may pose and probably has posed in previous instances a dilemma for Mr. Roosevelt. He may want to do things as an individual which should not be done out of consideration for his safety as a public figure. He has made many trips during his years in office which, while they turned out all right, would have led to very serious recriminations if they had turned out otherwise, and it is not to be imagined that his character has changed.

Mr. Roosevelt alone can make the decisions about where he will go as the nation's chief executive, but if he will take into consideration the feeling of the people he will make no trips which cannot be justified as imperative. It is impossible to believe that a trip to Europe for any reason could be justified as imperative, up to and including the possibility of an Allied conference to accept Germany's surrender.

WHEN THE BOYS COME HOME

There is going to be a political hue and cry, reflecting popular sentiment, for bringing the boys home from the war fronts—as soon as possible. The Republican party has adopted the slogan as part of its platform, and presumably the Democrats will match it.

It would save some heartaches if the tag end of the slogan is looked at honestly. How soon is as soon as possible? About 3,000 members of the First marine division landed at San Diego last week. They were first to go into ground action against Japan. They fought on Guadalcanal, Tulagi, Cape Gloucester—most of them for 26 months. Meanwhile, thousands of other American men who have been away from home just as long as sweating it out in the Pacific theater with no prospect of getting home, other than the feeble flicker of hope kept alive by the rotation plan.

In the Mediterranean theater it is the same. It is the same in western Europe. It is the same wherever American men are fighting the war. All of them want to come. Until the war is over, most of them can't come home—and the relatively few who do get home will not be able to stay. It would be a lot kinder in the long run if politicians would forego the temptation to talk about things they are as powerless to alter as they were in the campaign of 1940 to keep American men from being sent abroad to fight in the first place.

AN INSTITUTION TOTTERS

Something may have happened to the big show's big top at Hartford besides a disastrous fire and panic resulting in the worst tragedy of circus history. Spokesmen admit they do not know yet how the big show is going to be rebuilt, but they hint at the possibility of going on the road when the job is done without the big top which is the circus trademark.

The show would be put on in buildings, as it has been staged for many years in Madison Square Garden at the opening of the season. Its bookings would be restricted to localities where adequate facilities existed. While the spokesmen mention this only as a temporary expedient, it is possible the expedient might become the practice. Nothing has assured permanence in a dynamic universe—not even the big top.

Even if the big show's big tent reappears, the chances are the Hartford tragedy will result in drastic alterations—some by designers' choice, others by legal necessity. In any event, all who look forward to breaking in a grandchild to the thrills of the circus may have to draw on memory to reconstruct the big top as it once was. When the flames had finished at Hartford, the last of the traditional big tops may have disappeared forever.

STARS, STRIPES AND STRIFE

With no way of knowing what goes on behind closed doors, newspapermen hearing about the bicker over the kind of news that's fit to print in the Mediterranean edition of Stars & Stripes are still glad they can continue to practice their trade under private auspices. With a political campaign warming up and both sides gunning for all the soldier votes they can get, it will be no fun to decide what the war department wants Stars & Stripes readers to see from now on. The man who guesses wrong will follow Col. Egbert White, who thought the subscribers should be reading some Associated Press dispatches, instead of a straight diet of official news, into the limbo reserved for unfortunate men who incur official displeasure.

Obviously, Stars & Stripes cannot be run like a privately owned newspaper. It is published by the war department for service men and financed by taxation. Its editors and staff are not answerable to their readers, but to their superior officers—and it's a safe bet that nine out of 10 of the latter are devoted to the principle that it is safer to censor too much than too little; what the reader doesn't see can't hurt him and what he does see might get the censor into trouble. In short, the trouble isn't with Stars & Stripes, but with the idea that it or any government publication can be run without official interference.

THE STARS SAY:

For Wednesday, July 12

A CLEVER and considerate understanding of sudden and surprising openings for advancement, highly productive work of important scope and significance is foreseen for today. Properly handled this promising situation may be expected to rise to unforeseen heights of accomplishment with singular levels of good fortune and happiness. There may be peculiar and intriguing situations, together with some trivial annoyances or oppositions. Take time for thought, shun extravagance and impetuosity. There may be want of support from elders or superiors, who should be placated.

If It Is Your Brother

Those whose birthday it is may have the opportunity of reaching highly desirable objectives by their own cleverness and sagacity. This may be against the definite opposition or lack of support of elders, superiors or those in influential standing, possibly in connection with government affairs. It would be wise to placate these rather than to take a stand of antagonism. There may be other trifling annoyances to meet with good grace and friendly understanding. The forces and faculties may be found keyed to clever performance and tact.

Infantile Intestinal Ills

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
"Summer complaint" which was some form of intestinal infection was once the great infant killer in this country. It still is in many parts of the world. That it has practically disappeared here is due to the success of the campaign for clean and pasteurized milk.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Infants still, however, are subject to a good many forms of intestinal upsets, usually taking the form of diarrhoea, less frequently of constipation. And no wonder! The baby comes into the world with a brand new set of intestines, but they have never been tried out.

And within a few days after birth they have to digest and absorb enough energy to keep that hot little machine going on high. It is no wonder that this takes considerable adjustment in many instances.

In seeking for causes we will not consider here the infectious diarrhoeas which are due to germs in the milk or food. Those are simply due to supreme carelessness and a reminder of the dark ages. Aside from that there are four common causes of infantile intestinal upsets.

Infantile Intestinal Upsets

1. Overfeeding, or improper feeding.

This is the commonest form and the easiest to recognize and to correct. It results usually from the natural affectionate desire of the mother to see the baby gets plenty to eat or to indulge it in some way. It responds quickly to a day or two of underfeeding, simply plenty of warm, sterile water if the symptoms are serious enough. The feeding of pectin agar, or scraped apple is almost specific as a curative agent in most of these cases.

2. Diarrhoea due to infection elsewhere—tonsillitis, middle ear infection, bronchitis or any general infection may touch off the baby's sensitive bowels with an explosive diarrhoea. Here the logical and natural treatment is to go after the underlying cause.

3. Mechanical causes. These are rarer and more serious. They include all of the structural disorders of the intestinal tract, such as congenital dilatation, coeliac disease and tuberculosis. The mother will finally recognize that something is fundamentally wrong because no amount of adjustment or fixing of the feeding serves to correct the condition. These cases are not for amateurs or home treatment. You need a doctor and a good one.

Nutritional or Metabolic Causes

4. There remains a group which can be called the nutritional or metabolic set of causes. They are fairly frequent, not necessarily serious but very troublesome. The great majority of infants adjust themselves to a feeding existence with no trouble at all, considering what a revolutionary change it is for the organism. Infant feeding has been brought to such a fine science that mothers can be given a simple and streamlined set of instructions which work like putting gasoline in a new Ford if you can remember back that far—to the days of new Fords, I mean.

But some infants have a digestive system that is intolerant to starch and some that is intolerant to fat and some have intolerance to lots of things which is generally called allergy and let go at that. Here the mother has to get down to work and take all sorts of pains. No streamlined instructions that avoid trouble for her are possible. The starch intolerant cases begin to show symptoms at about the third to the twelfth month. The fat intolerant at one to eight months. Both kinds usually respond

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. T. B.: I am 51 years old and I have what they call a race horse heart. What is the best kind of treatment for this?

Answer: There is no such term as race horse heart known, used and agreed to among doctors.

A. L. M.:—Can you tell me where I can get a book on the care of babies under two years of age? Answer: From Infancy through Childhood, by Louis W. Sauer, published by Harper and Brothers, New York.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendenning has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendenning, 235 E. 45th st., New York. ARMY'S NEW GIANT FLAK GUN

THE NAZIS ARE NOT THE ONLY ONES to introduce unusual weapons for warfare. Here's the U. S. Army's new 120 mm. automatic anti-aircraft gun. It is capable of outreaching the highest-flying bombers in the world with 50-pound shells. Remote Control Inspector Mrs. Ruth Conners is seated on the gun platform during a series of tests at the Erie Proving Grounds at Lacarne, Ohio. (International)

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

The first snows fell. Hermy was busy planning for her Christmas baskets for the Poor Farm. Up in the hills she was flashing and the boys watched restlessly for the goods to freeze.

But Nora....
Nora and Jim were enigmas. She seemed from her Thangsgiving "indisposition," a little payer, a little thinner, a little more nervous but self-possessed. She would talk about that incident to any-

Her mother tried. "Nora, what's wrong? You can tell me."

"Nothing. What's the matter with everybody?"
"But Jim's drinking, dear. It's all right," groaned Hermy. "It's getting to be a disgrace! And you and Jim are quarreling—that's a fact...."

Nora set her small mouth. "Mother, you'll simply have to let me run my own life."

"I'm sorry Mother. It's my life."

"Is a Rosemary who's causing all these arguments? She's always taking Jim off and whispering to him. She's going to stay with him."

But Nora ran away crying.

Pat was aging visibly. "Ellery, the three letters.... they're still in Nora's mailbox in her closet. I looked last night."

"I know," sighed Ellery.

"You've been keeping tabs, too?"

"Yes. Somebody's been re-reading them. They show signs of being handled...."

"But why won't Nora face the matter?" cried Pat. "She knows that the first attack—that first letter told her so! Yet she won't have the doctor see her. She refuses to defend herself, she refuses to let me understand her!"

"Maybe," said Ellery carefully, "Nora's afraid to face the scandal."

Pat's eyes opened wide as Queen continued: "You told me how she retreated from the world when Jim left her on their scheduled wedding day several years ago. There's a deep streak of pride in your sister's Nora. Pat. She can't abide being talked about. If this ever came out...."

"That's it," conceded Pat. "I was afraid not to have seen it before. She's ignoring it, like a child. Close your eyes and you won't see the bossman. You're right, Ellery. In the town she's afraid of!"

Monday evening before Christmas, Mr. Queen was sitting on a bench just near the woods, watching the Hill Drive. There was no moon; it was a still night and sounds carried crisply and far.

Jim and Nora were at it again. Nora and Nora were at it again. Queen chafed his cold hands.

It was about money. Nora was still. Where was she spending her money? What had happened to her money brooch?

"Jim, you've got to tell me. This can't go on. It can't!"

Jim's voice was a mutter at first, but then it began to rise with. Don't put me through a third de-

The detective-author listened intently for something new, a clue; but he heard nothing he had not already learned. He rose from the stump and made for the Wright house and warmth. Suddenly he stopped. The front door of Calamity House—how much after the phrase seemed these days!—had slammed.

Ellery sprinted through the snow, keeping in the shadows of the big house.

Jim Haight was plowing down the walk unevenly. He jumped into his car.

Ellery ran to the Wright garage. He had an arrangement with Pat: she always left the keys of her convertible in the ignition lock for his use in an emergency.

Jim's car sloshed down the Hill at a dangerous pace, and Ellery followed. He did not turn on Pat's headlights; he could see well enough by the lights of Jim's car.

Route 16.... Vic Carlati's....

It was almost ten o'clock when Jim staggered out of the Hot Spot and got into his car again. By its weave and lurch Ellery knew Jim's condition. Was he going home?

No. The turn-off to town. Going into town!

Where?

Jim skidded to a stop before a poor wooden tenement in the heart of Low Village. He reeled into the dark hallway.

A 25-watt bulb burned drearly in the hall. Ellery saw Jim creep up the stairs, knock at a door with a paint-blistered panel.

"Jim!" Lola Wright's exclamation.

The door closed.

Ellery slipped up the stairs, feeling each step for its creaky spot before putting his full weight on it.

At the landing, the detective-author went swiftly to Lola's door and pressed his ear to the thin panel.

"But you got to," he heard Jim cry. "Lola, don't turn me down. I'm desperate...."

"But I've told you, Jim. I haven't any money," said Lola's cool voice. "Here sit down. Now, what are you desperate about?" Lola was all but cooing. "There—sit—that more comfortable? Come on, Jim, tell little Lola all about it."

Haight began to weep. His weeping became muffled. Suddenly Lola gasped, as if in pain, and Ellery was about to crash through the door.

"Jim! you pushed me!"

"All a same! You said, tell Lola. Oh, yeah? Well, I'm not tellin' you anything!"

"Jim, you'd better go home."

"Gonna gimme dough, or not gimme?"

"But Jim, I told you...."

"Nobody'll gimme dough! Get in trouble, his own wife won't shell out. Know what I oughta do? I thought—"

"What, Jim?"

"Nothin'. Nothin'...." His voice trailed. There was a long interval. And then he heard Lola's faint cry and Jim's awakening snort.

"I said take your han's off me!"

"Jim, I wasn't—you fell asleep—"

"You were s-searchin' me! What you lookin' for? Huh?"

"Jim, Don't.... do that. You're hurting me." Lola's voice was well controlled.

"I'll hurt you plenty! I'll show Lola and Jim were teetering on a worn patch of carpet in the middle of the room. His arms were around her and he was trying to bend her backward. She had the heel of her hand under his chin. His head was far back, his eyes glaring.

"The United States Marines!" murmured Mr. Queen as he plucked Jim and Lola, and sat him down on a sagging sofa. Jim covered his face with his hands. "Any damage Lola?"

"No," she panted. "But just how much did you hear?"

"Just a scuffling," said Ellery mildly. "I was coming up to pay you that long-overdue visit. What's the matter with Jim?"

"Plastered," Lola gave him her full face now. "Poor Nora! I can't imagine why he came here. Do you suppose he's fallen in love with me?"

"You ought to be able to answer that yourself," replied Ellery. "Well, Mr. Haight, I think you'd best say night-night to your sister-in-law and let me take you home."

Jim sat there rocking, then he stopped and his head flopped. He was asleep and doubled up.

"Lola," said Ellery quickly. "What do you know about this business?"

"What business?" Her eyes met his, but they told nothing.

After a moment Ellery smiled. Then he slung Jim across his shoulders; Lola held the door open.

"Two cars?"

"His and mine—or rather Pat's."

"I'll drive Jim's back in the morning. Just leave it parked outside," said Lola. "And Mr. Smith—"

"Miss Wright?"

"Call again."

"Perhaps."

"Only next time," Lola smiled. "Knock."

With unexpected firmness, John F. took command for the family.

"No fuss, Hermy," he said, wagging his thin forefinger at her. "This Christmas somebody else does the work."

"John Fowler Wright, what on earth—?"

"We're all going up to the mountain for Christmas dinner. We'll spend the night at the Lodge, and roast chestnuts around Bill York's fire."

"John, that's a silly idea! Nora took my Thanksgiving away from me, now you want my Christmas."

"I won't hear of it."

But after looking into her husband's eyes, Hermy stopped arguing.

So Ed Hotchkiss was hired to drive the Christmas gifts up to Bill York's Lodge on top of Bald Mountain, with a note to Bill from John F. concerning dinner, and lodgings, and "special preparations"—old John was mighty mysterious about the whole thing, chortling like a boy.

They were to drive up to Bald Mountain in two cars directly after dinner Christmas Eve. Everything was ready—the snow chains were on the rear tires, old Ludie had already left, released for the holiday, and they were stamping about outside the Wright house waiting for Jim and Nora to join them....

When the door of Nora's house opened and out came Rosemary Haight, alone.

"Where are Jim and Nora?" called Hermy. "We'll never get to the Lodge!"

Rosemary shrugged. "Nora's not going."

"What?"

"She says she doesn't feel well."

They found Nora in bed, still and weak and greenish, and Jim prowling aimlessly about the room.

"It's nothing," declared Nora; but it was an effort for her to talk. "Just my stomach. You all go on ahead to the Lodge."

"We'll do no such thing," said Pat indignantly. "Jim, haven't you called Dr. Willoughby?"

"She won't let me."

"Won't let you! What's she got to say about it? I'm going downstairs this minute!"

"Pat," faltered Nora. Her sister stopped. "Don't."

"Now Nora—"

Mrs. Haight opened her eyes. "I won't have it," she said through her teeth. "I'm saying this for the last time. I won't have interference. Do you understand? I'm all right. I'm—all—right."

Nora bit her lip, then with an effort continued: "Now please. Go on. If I feel better in the morning, Jim and I will join you at the Lodge."

"Daughter," said John F., clearing his throat, "it's time you and I had an old-fashioned talk...."

"Let me alone!" Nora screamed. They did so.

Honor Twins At Farewell Party

WINONA, July 11.—Mrs. Florence Lutz and daughter, Miss Marjorie, entertained at a party for about 30 relatives and friends Friday evening.

The gathering honored William and Robert, twin sons of Mrs. Lutz, who left for army induction Monday. Guests were from Salem, Winona, Hanoverton and East Rochester.

Mrs. Wallace Whinery and children, Edna and David left Friday, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mountz and children of North Georgetown, to visit relatives in Grafton, W. Va.

The Winona W.C.T.U. will meet Wednesday afternoon with Miss

Ethel Andre. Mrs. Lena Megrall will be in charge of the program.

Mrs. Walter Dunn, Mrs. Sina Megrall, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mayhew and daughter, Miss Esther Jean and Mrs. Grady Odom attended the W.C.T.U. program at the County home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brantingham and son, Jay, of Warren were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leedom Cope. Jay remained for a week's visit with his grandparents.

Pfc. and Mrs. Sherman Godward and daughter Shirley, of Indian town Gap, Pa., were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Godward.

Miss Hazel Godward of Youngstown was also a weekend guest in the Richard Godward home. Sunday guests in the Godward home were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Minner of Salem-Damascus road, and Miss Bessie Godward of Salem.

Have Picnic, Pack Boxes

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church enjoyed a picnic at Camp Alonewa, Thursday.

In the afternoon, the women packed 20 boxes of cookies for the men and women in the service.

Mrs. Richard Stamp gave a short report on her recent trip to the annual Methodist conference at Lakeside which she attended as a lay delegate.

Miss Ethel Letzku of Salem was a Sunday guest of Rev. and Mrs. Seth Jackson.

The Christ Mission truck of Youngstown will visit Winona July 28. Anyone with donations contact Mrs. Sina Megrall.

Dinner Honors Mother

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gamble entertained at a family dinner Sunday honoring Mr. Gamble's mother, Mrs. Rachel S. Gamble's birthday.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Livezy and son, Charles and Bill Green of Cortland.

Wednesday dinner guests in the

Mr. and Mrs. James Rhodes home were Mr. and Mrs. Al Mone of Cleveland and Corp. Lillian Veverks of the WAC's home on furlough from Hardington, Texas.

The tent meetings held in Stewart's grove last week will continue through this week with services every evening at 8. The evangelists in charge are Willis Miller of Youngstown, and Rev. and Mrs. Stabler of Pennsylvania, and Miss Ruth Sanford of East Liverpool.

Friday callers in the James Rhodes home were J. A. Nicklason of Salem, and Tech. Serg. Harold Ludwig, home on furlough.

Earl Cooper and Miss Wanda Ball of Grafton, W. Va., visited Mr. Cooper's brother, Joseph Cooper and family and other relatives here last week.

Shineless, Wrinkle Proof Suits For Post-War Men

ST. LOUIS, July 11.—When GI Joe returns to civilian clothes he is going to have a couple of surprises coming.

And it won't crinkle after a long train ride, or in a suit case. Creases in the pants will be razor sharp, even after a walk through a heavy rain.

The Monsanto Chemical Co. says shineless, wrinkle-proof suits, no-wilt dresses, and other similar developments are possible because of newly discovered techniques of treating either the surface or the heart of fibers without in any way changing the feel or texture of the material.

The women are going to get their share, too. When the luxuries of silk and nylon stockings return, they will be run-proof.

80 BILLION POUNDS OF ICE, PLEASE!

Quite an order, my friend, but that's the record total the Ice Industry had to produce during the past year to supply the wartime requirements essential to the protection of perishable food for the armed forces and civilians from bacteria, mould and spoilage—enemies more destructive than even Hitler and Hirohito!

Our perishable food supply travels on a highway of Ice all the way from producer to user.

To make such essential service possible, one hundred and fifty thousand Ice men, working day and night, are bringing Ice to every critical point which food must pass. Ice service reaches to the fields where the food is grown—to the 140,000 refrigerator cars that daily carry it hundreds of thousands of miles—to over six hundred thousand retail stores, fish and meat markets, and other essential commercial establishments—and finally to home, hospital and military camp.

A record total of eighty billion pounds of Ice was required last year to supply the nation's demand for Ice!

Your Ice Service Man is one of that army of loyal workers who made this record possible by keeping nearly six thousand five hundred Ice plants at peak production day and night—to provide an essential product for a nation at war.

Along with its vital war activities, the Ice Industry is continuing its leadership in the Refrigeration Industry by constantly maintained research and post-war planning. After Victory comes we will be ready with many interesting innovations in product and service—as well as refrigerators of entirely new design, so that you can enjoy even better refrigeration than ever before. Unemployment Pay Drops To Lowest Monthly Total COLUMBUS, July 11.—State unemployment compensation payments during June dropped to $90,049, lowest monthly total this year.

Charles H. Jones, administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, announced today.

That amount was 15 per cent lower than May's total payments, Jones explained.

Four Ohio cities had no compensable unemployment last month: Ashabula, Ravenna, Washington Court House and Wooster.

An average of 1,411 unemployed Ohioans per week received benefits during the month, payments covering 6,292 weeks of unemployment.

Jones said unemployment compensation payments for the first six months of 1944 were about one-third lower than for the comparable period of last year.

Household Hints

Don't beat muffin batter as it may shrink the muffins. Mix gently with all ingredients blended.

Be sure to wash your white and light colored fabric gloves frequently and as soon as they are the least bit soiled.

When cooking macaroni, spaghetti or rice, rub a bit of fat around the top of the pan to prevent the pan boiling over.

To prevent loss, label your youngster's lunch boxes and vacuum jars which are carried to school.

Ginger ale poured over diced fruit gives zip when a refreshing fruit cocktail or diced fruit dessert is desired.

Cotton slip cover skirts on vanity dressers will keep fresh longer and show fewer wrinkles if they are lightly starched when laundered.

YANKS BATTERING FORWARD IN ITALY

Fifth Army Holding Road Between Poggibonsi And West Coast

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, July 11.—The Allies radio said today that Fifth Army troops have penetrated into the outskirts of Poggibonsi—about 22 miles south of Florence—and now are holding the whole of the lateral road between Poggibonsi and the Italian west coast.

ROME, July 11.—Employing encircling tactics against stubbornly defended and heavily fortified German strongholds, American troops were working their way steadily northward today in a broad enveloping movement aimed at the key Italian port of Livorno (Leghorn).

Allied headquarters announced that Fifth Army forces had bypassed the town of Lajatico, 21 miles southeast of Livorno, in one phase of this movement and had established on ahead against fierce opposition.

A similar operation resulted in the bypassing of Pomaja, about eight miles inland from the Italian west coast and approximately midway between Lajatico and the coastal town of Castiglione di Tenna, which drove around Pomaja on the east subsequently captured the village of Casale, one mile to the north.

The 100th battalion, composed of American troops of Japanese origin, was engaged in violent fighting on relatively flat ground three miles west of Pomaja and was reported making some progress.

The German garrison at Pomaja thus was threatened on two sides, and the Nazi force at Lajatico was in much the same position. Except for a few spots where the enemy gave ground grudgingly to maintain a unified line, the battle along the entire Italian front was slow and arduous. The Nazis launched a number of fierce counterattacks.

There were growing indications that it likely would be a matter of many days before the Allies batter their way even to contact with the main Gothic line defenses.

Women Marine MP Can Back Up Their Orders, Says Sally

Marine Pfc. Sally Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde I. Moore of N. Ellsworth ave., is one of the first group of women Marines to be trained as military police, although others are being trained and new units are planned for camps throughout the nation.

Pfc. Moore, who will leave tomorrow for Camp Lejeune, New River, N. C., after a week's furlough at her home here, says the principal work of the women Marine MPs is guard duty. They stand duty with MPs at social functions, and have regular shifts for guarding areas of the camp, including movie houses, women's quarters area, storehouses and other buildings.

Five months ago, after completing boot training, Pfc. Moore was ready to receive specialized instruction. Papers were prepared for her transfer to storekeeper's school, but plans were changed and she was selected with about 50 others for training as the first women Marine guard troop.

Their training period of a few weeks, which has been extended to a number of weeks for women now in training, gave them instruction in "judo," among other things, and Pfc. Moore says, "when a woman Marine MP gives an order she can back it up."

Her schedule calls for 24 hour duty with the next 24 hours free, considerably better than the all-day night duty the first group of trainees had.

Members of the first group will be sent to aid in the establishment of other units at various centers.

Saw Hitler's Plans For U. S. Invasion, He Says

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Congress was told yesterday by one of the nation's leading aircraft manufacturers, President J. Carlton Ward, Jr., of the Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., that he saw in 1940 a detailed plan drawn by Hitler for invasion of the United States.

Testifying before a senate military subcommittee, Ward said he was permitted to see the plan while in France at the head of a mission advising on aircraft construction.

Elaborating his testimony later for newspaper men, Ward said: "The plans was to make a feint through Newfoundland and then invade us through Mexico. Not only did Hitler plan military invasion but he had a complete plan for economic domination of the world."

Next Loan Drive May Get Treasury 'Victory' Theme

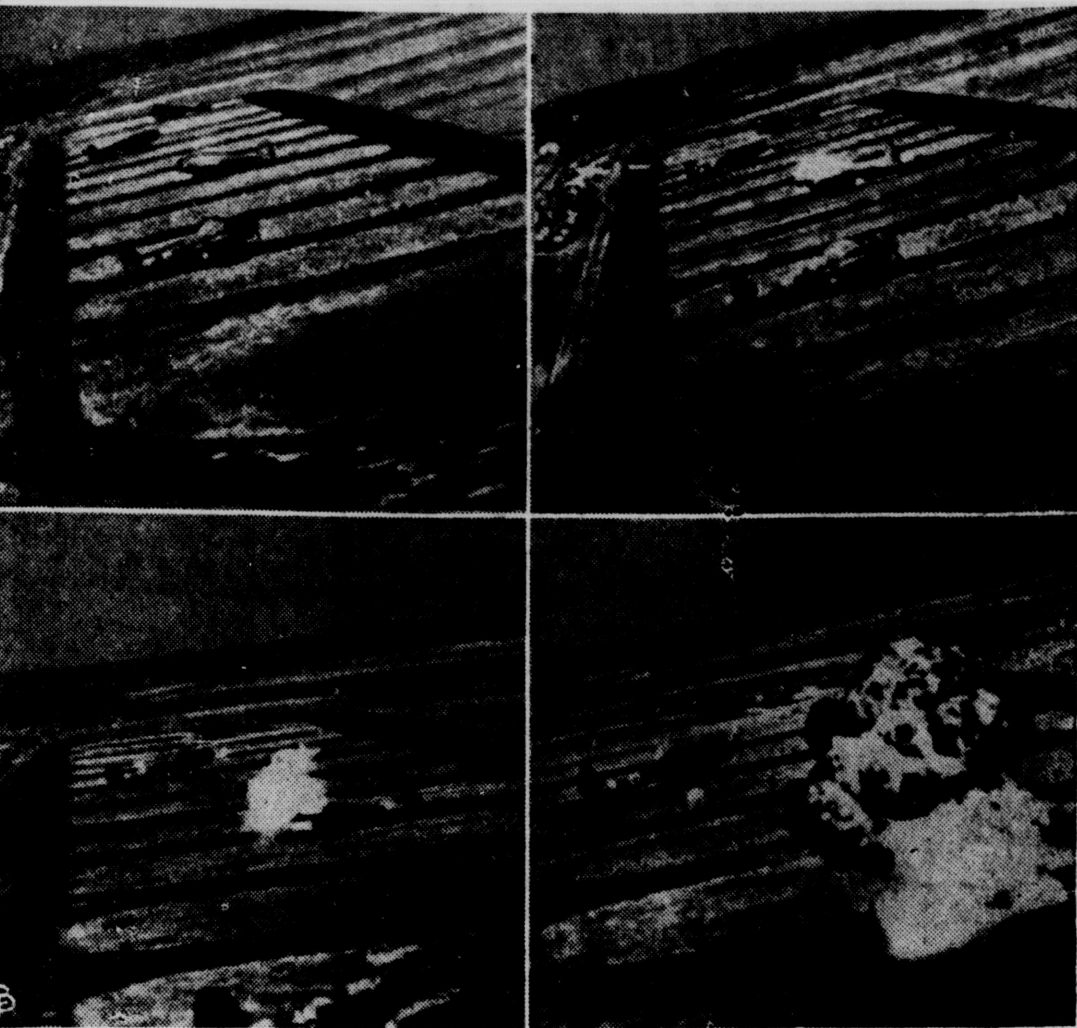

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The next War Loan drive may provide a clue to what the treasury thinks of the imminence of victory in Europe.

Treasury officials, it was learned today, have started planning for a "victory loan." If the military picture in Europe appears bright several months hence, the next drive probably will be pitched to a "victory" theme. Otherwise, there will be another "war" loan.

The goal may be larger than the $10,000,000,000 of the Fifth War Loan drive just successfully completed.

U. S. NAVY V-MAIL 7 MILLION A MONTH

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON.—The Navy V-mail system which is almost two years old, has expanded approximately 500 per cent in the last nine months and is delivering more than 7,000,000 pieces of mail each month.

Despite the tremendous volume of mail going overseas by the system—the Army and Navy together have delivered a total of 514,000,000 letters since June, 1942—not a single V-mail letter has been lost irretrievably in the transit. The reason for this fact is that the original letter is held at a port of embarkation until safe delivery of the letter is reported by its destination. If a plane carrying the mail is lost or shot down, the original letters are rephotographed and sent out again, thus insuring the safe arrival of every letter.

The Navy's V-mail stations are mobile units which move into strategic areas close behind the combat troops. Equipment to reproduce letters went into Tarawa with the second wave of assault troops. At Kwajalein and Eniwetok, V-mail depots were set up within a day and a half of American action.

The most important reason for use of V-mail now is the saving in cargo space. Since a V-mail letter weighs 1/140 as much as a standard letter, two transport planes can do the work of 100 similar planes carrying standard mail.

The United States produces 85 per cent of the world's total aviation gasoline.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boggs of Canton called on Mr. and Mrs. G. H. McDonald and daughter, Sunday.

Miss Wanda Sommerville of Canfield is visiting her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Sommerville.

PIN-WORMS

Now can be Beaten!

The miseries of Pin-Worms have been known for centuries, and many doctors have sought a way to deal with this dreadful pest that lives and grows inside the human body.

Today, thanks to an important scientific discovery, a new and highly effective treatment is being hailed by medical authorities. It is based on a remarkable drug known as gentian violet. This drug is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm Tablet developed by the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines.

P-W makes it unnecessary for you or your child to suffer in silence with the embarrassing rectal itch caused by Pin-Worms, or to take chances on the red distress they often create. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets act in a special way to destroy Pin-Worms.

So watch for possible warning signs such as: itching seat and nose, uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting. If you suspect Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for a package of P-W and follow the simple directions carefully.

It is easy to remember: P-W for Pin-Worms!

Now's the time to can green beans

Here's how to can them for your table. Let your Gas range help you make the most of this nutritious food!

1 Wash thoroughly, use only fresh beans, within two hours of gathering.

2 String or cut beans, as desired.

"HOME CANNING"—a booklet that solves your canning problems in a jiffy, may be secured merely by stopping into your Gas Company office.

3 Be sure to pre-cook in boiling water, 3 to 5 minutes.

5 Process according to directions. Count time exactly.

4 Fill jars to within an inch of top. Don't pack too tightly.

Here's WHY you'll want to can lots of green beans this summer: they're plentiful, they're easy to can, they're rich in vitamins; and next winter when good fresh beans are scarce and expensive, they will brighten many a meal in salads and soups, scalloped or au gratin, with sauted mushrooms, with chopped chives, and in many other tasty ways.

Read the directions at left for proper procedure in canning green beans. And for any other information on home-canning, call the Home Service Department of your Gas company—headquarters for the most reliable home canning information.

Sportsmen Urged To Boost Conservation Program In Ohio

Restoration Program More Important Than Restocking Fields And Streams, Is Cry

Stressing the vital importance to farmers and sportsmen of Ohio of a systematic and through soil, water and timber conservation program, George Emmett of Ashland, field representative of the Ohio Division of Conservation, spoke last night to a county-wide public meeting of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective Association at the Saxon hall.

Emmett said soil erosion, unplanned butchering of timber and neglect of Ohio's reforestation does more serious damage to the sportsman's opportunities in the field and stream than any other things and he pointed out that, although restocking and propagating the wildlife of the state does help the hunter and fisherman, it is far from the solution to the problem.

"Conservation is bigger than any of us, it is bigger than any one group of us," Emmett said, "And in order to help ourselves as citizens, farmers and sportsmen, we must push the reforestation programs, the soil erosion prevention projects and the battles against stream pollution."

"Americans are the greatest dis-sapaters on the face of the earth," the former vice-president of the Ohio Sportsmen's League said. "And unless we learn to conserve our vast resources, our forests and streams, which are after all homes for our wildlife, the next several generations will find themselves living in an entirely different America and an entirely weaker and less prosperous America."

Urges Sportsmen To Act
He urged Ohio sportsmen and sportsmen's organizations to ask for a discontinuation of artificial propagation of fish and game and ask that the money now used for that purpose be put in the future into reforestation, prevention of soil erosion and stream pollution.

He also urged that the sportsmen give definite thoughts to the future

Ray of Hope Is Given Shell-Hungry Hunters

George Emmett, speaking at the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association meeting last night, threw a ray of hope into the 1944 dreams of district hunters by predicting there would be more and more shells for hunting this fall.

"Don't go out and pay a high price for shells this year, because if you will wait a while, there'll be plenty," Emmett said. Emmett is field representative for the Ohio Division of Conservation.

of our country and make more realistic requests of the Division of Conservation and the legislature.

"I'm a great hunting and fishing enthusiast," he said, "And I do the work I am doing because it is a hobby with me, but I realize that bigger things must be done to conserve America's resources. At the same time I know that the best possible boost to hunting and fishing opportunities in Ohio is not reforestation of streams and forests, but the three projects I have mentioned."

Robinson Speaks
Clarence Robinson of Lisbon, President of the Columbiana County Farmers and Sportsmen's association, spoke briefly before Emmett and outlined the past history of the organization. He said the association had always met to originate resolutions for what they considered beneficial legislation to both the farmer and the hunter and fisherman.

He also outlined the policy of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association in turning wildlife out to replenish the supply of coons and rabbits in this county, and praised the assistance the State Department of Conservation in this field.

Don Cannon, as chairman of the program, introduced Field Representative Emmett. Music was provided by Al Saunders of Alliance and moving pictures depicting the conservation department's wildlife program in Ohio were shown.

Majors Set To Tee Off In Dream Game!

Southworth to Use Reds' Walters; Hank Borowky Up for Americans

By JACK HAND

PITTSBURGH, July 11—All-Star baseball swings around the major leagues when the Pittsburghers for the first time tonight will be Southworth leading heavily on Cincinnati's Bucky Walters and a starting lineup with a .307 batting average to keep the National league's three-year losing streak from becoming a habit. It's 11 to 10 in these parts that he'll succeed.

Manager Joe McCarthy of the Americans is expected to call on a Yankee battery of Hank Borowky and Rolfe Hemslay to give the junior circuit its ninth victory in the 12-game series.

A sell-out crowd of nearly 40,000 is predicted with fair and cooler weather.

Skippers Arrive Today
Both skippers delayed their arrival until the morning of the game after announcing lineups sprinkled with lefthanded hitters. Lefty Hal Newhouse of Detroit is almost a certainty to see service for the Americans but the Nationals have only one southpaw, Ken Raffensberger of the Phils, who may not get a call.

Behind Walters, Southworth is expected to come in with Nate Andrews of the Braves and Rip Sewell of the Pirates. All other National hurlers saw action as starters or reliefs men Sunday and would be working with only one-day rest. Bill Voiselle of the Giants was added to the staff last night to replace the ailing Max Lanier of the Cards.

McCarthy has Borowky and Bob Muncie of the Browns fully rested since their last appearance Thursday, Newhouse and Bobo Newhouse of the A's pitched Saturday and Jackie Joe Page of the A's was passed up on his last regular turn and has been inactive since July 4. Tex Hughson of the Red Sox have forfeited his chance because he was needed for relief chores both Saturday and Sunday.

What A Catch!

League Fans and Officials Say Frank Carloss Made "Grab of the Year"

At an unofficial gathering of Class A softball league officials and fans the other evening after one of the games, a general discussion got under way on who had made the most outstanding catch of the season to date.

After very little wrangling or disagreement, most of those present agreed that Rightfielder Frankie Carloss, Paxson recruit of not-so-long-ago, had pulled the best one of the year in the contest between the China and Paxsons a couple of weeks ago.

It seems it was a very tight game, with Paxsons in the lead on their way to what might have been the first win over the Pottery in 1944, when diminutive Carloss made an extensive run after a fly ball to right field. He sped like a demon into the high weeds to the right of the foul line and pulled the ball out of nowhere, to the astonishment of all watchers.

Umpire Ray Reasbeck said he had given up any hope of a catch and had nearly taken his eyes off the play when Carloss came up with the ball.

"It was really one of the finest catches I have ever seen," Joe Kelley, league manager, said.

However, Paxsons lost the game 3-2, in the ninth inning.

MEL OTT, GIANTS' MANAGER STEALING LIMELIGHT JULY 11

Slugging Manager Looms As Man To Watch In All-Star Game

By CHIP ROYAL

NEW YORK—Baseball's glamour boys, the All-Stars, will line up for the 12th Midsummer Night's dream, July 11th, in Forbes field, Pittsburgh, with all eyes on Manager Mel Ott of the Giants.

The 1926 boy wonder from the Bayous, in case you haven't heard, is clouting that old apple all over the park, making new records every time he goes to the plate.

Right now Mel is sure of having his name accredited to marks this year in the National league for runs batted in, most extra bases on long hits, most bases on balls and most home runs.

He also stands a good chance of putting the family moniker in the columns labeled most years leading the league in home runs, most years with 30 or more home runs, and a half a dozen varied home run records.

Of course the All-Star game won't count as far as the other marks are concerned but Master Melvin will set a mark for other players to shoot at by playing in his 11th summer classic. He missed the first one.

Many reasons are being given for Ott's sensational hitting this year. Mel recently gave the credit to multiple vitamins which immediately started a rush for the little pills credited with helping the Cards to a world championship in 1942.

Just for home run comparison purposes, the little manager authored only 18 of the round trippers all during last year. He passed that figure for 1944 some time ago. He's really been driving the ball hard and fast at the fence.

Dodger Mickey Owen brought the color to Mel's cheeks the other night. After the Giant leader slapped one into the upper stand for three runs, and barely missed another homer with a foul whack to the roof, the catcher queried:

"What are you trying to do? You are the last fellow in the world I thought would go home run crazy!"

Ott jumped back at Mickey quicker than a flash, saying:

"You know better than that from your own experience. How many times have you hit a homer when you aimed for one? Never, I'll bet. I know I never have. All I'm trying to do now is hit the ball."

Later, after the game, it was easy to see that Owen had disturbed Ott, and so he talked more about his hitting.

"I don't know what it is," he admitted, "but I feel good up there at the plate, more confident. I seem to be getting the bat through faster."

"I don't think I have learned anything new but honestly I have never felt like hitting, or hit the ball any harder than I have the last few weeks."

Mel didn't say it, but the above conversation would seem to be a good warning to the American league pitchers in the All-Star game.

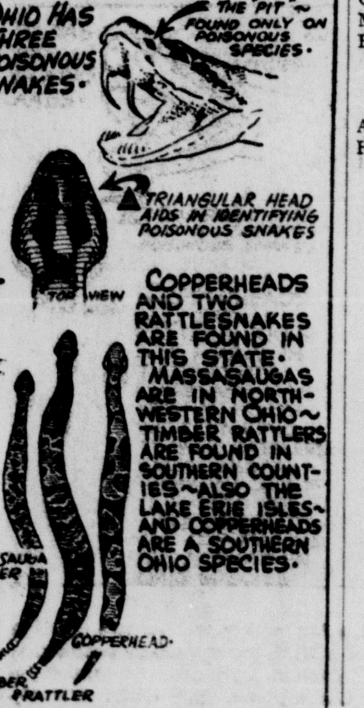

Speaking of records in the dream encounter, Detroit's Charley Gehring still holds the batting mark. He hit .500 for six games. Jimmy Dykes, White Sox manager, carries an enviable hitting record. Jimmy playing in one game, hit twice in three trips for a .667 mark.

Candy Sent to GI's
ST. JOSEPH, Mo.—The most popular brands of candy bars now are going to soldiers overseas according to Maj. R. D. Hutton, commander of the quartermaster corps sub-depot here. The officer reports that during the first quarter of this year more than 300,000,000 candy bars or packages of nationally-known brands of candy were purchased for overseas troops. Chocolate-covered candies are shipped to countries where the climates are comparatively cool. Soldiers in warm climates receive packages of hard candies and jellies, Maj. Hutton said.

China, Recs Win Again As New Hurler Makes Jim's A Threat; Mullins Loses 7-2

A first inning scoring spree, which netted three runs, was all the Recreation needed to win—but they added four more in the contest with Mullins to win, 7-2, in Class A softball at Centennial park yesterday.

In the day's second game—between Jim's and the China—the last place organization served notice, with a new hurler, Ralph Hendricks, that they intend to make a serious bid for league honors in spite of a 3-0 setback at the hands of the 15-time victorious China. Hendricks is a former pitcher in Class A circles here, having worked for a dairy team several years ago.

Hendricks, defeated in the first inning, came back for the balance of the game and blanked the hard-hitting Pottery crew to end up with as good a hurling exhibition as Veteran Dale Ritchie could give. Both pitchers allowed five hits. The China, however, benefited in the first frame on a solid double by Fred Reese with two men on, and a pair of Jim errors to pile up their three-run total.

Win in Early Innings
Hendricks handed the Recreation a victory in the first two innings, when four runs were allowed on two hits and several errors by the factory men. The Recs, not satisfied with their four-run lead, piled on several more runs in the third and sixth innings to put the games on ice.

Considerably stronger than they were in the midst of the second round, the Old Timers yesterday had the services of their veteran hitter and hurler, last season—Bill Pauline. Although Pauline isn't performing in a pitching role now, he boosts the Rec batting power a great deal and is always there in case of an emergency on the mound.

He scored two runs, and chalked up a hit in three trips to the plate. A change in the China lineup was also seen yesterday as Razor Eddy took over the third base spot left vacant by hard-hitting, league leader Harry Ehrhart, who left yesterday for the Army.

China Recs on Top
For the majority of the season Ehrhart has battled it out with Charlie Huffer of the Old Timers, for the league's leading batting spot. He was hitting at a .407 clip when he left for the service.

The two battles yesterday eliminate one unbeaten third round squad from top ranking and places the China and Recreation in top place. Demings face Sheens today to see if they can maintain their early start in third round upper-classes.

Starite English Bride

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — It was just an old American custom, but the bride was horrified. U. S. Army

Corp. Barney Lofton of Memphis, who wed an English bride in Wales, missed the reception after the ceremony and almost caused the bride to have nervous prostrations — through no fault of his own. As the GI groom and his new wife left the church, two army M. P.'s took him by the arm and marched him off to a waiting jeep. They eventually returned the groom and explained that it was an "American joke." The bride's reaction to American humor was most explosive.

State Auditor Reveals Ohio Treasury Balance

COLUMBUS, July 11.—An examiner's report on the condition of Ohio's finances disclosed a treasury balance of $131,782,225.02 as of Dec. 31, 1943, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson announced. The report listed an additional $5,744,920.03 in depository trust funds not yet allocated to their proper accounts.

A sum of $386,349,059.82 is being held in the state treasury as assets belonging to various state retirement systems, Ferguson said, adding that his books and those of State Treasurer Don H. Ebricht balanced to a penny.

Cigaret Manufacturers Ignore Survey of Costs

WASHINGTON, July 11.—A survey of costs of cigarette manufacturers, begun by the Office of Price Administration more than a month ago to determine whether a cigarette price increase would be justified, has brought little response from the industry, OPA said today.

Questionnaires were sent to all manufacturers after OPA received a complaint from one company that its estimated profits this year would be less than the "reasonable" margin of earnings provided by law.

Only two companies have filled out and returned the questionnaires so far, an OPA official said.

500 Places Fall
Premier Stalin announced in an order of the day that the first White Russian army of Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky, poundage westward on the southern sector of the front, had occupied Luniniec, 30 miles east of Pinsk on the rail route to Brest-Litovsk and Warsaw, and Slonim, 28 miles west of Baranowicz on the railway to the Polish communications hub of Bialystok, now only 85 miles beyond.

Other columns striking north through the Pripyat marshes moved within nine miles of Pinsk.

The fall of Luniniec and the pressure of a companion column driving from the Pripyat marshes on the south was rapidly making the German position in Pinsk untenable.

Nearly 500 places fell in yesterday's westward surge. Utena formed the advance peak of the wedge thrust into Lithuania. Here the Russians stood within 175 miles of the Baltic coast of Memel.

A Reuters dispatch from Moscow said Soviet forces in the vicinity of Daugavpils had crossed into Latvia.

Ohio Infantile Paralysis Cases Mount, Not Serious

COLUMBUS, July 11.—Infantile paralysis cases are mounting in Ohio, but there is no cause for alarm, Dr. R. H. Markwith, state health director, asserted today.

Reporting the annual seasonal upswing in paralysis cases had begun, the health director declared the increase was not alarming because "the number of cases reported this year is comparable to those at the start of the season in previous years."

He said 33 cases had been reported in Ohio thus far in 1944.

State totals for 1942 and 1943 were 157 and 183 respectively.

Markwith urged parents to check with a physician regarding any health irregularities, however minor, during the next three months.

Republican Party United Spangler Advises Dewey

ALBANY, N. Y., July 11.—Harrison E. Spangler, former chairman of the Republican national committee, after conferring today with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, declared the Republican party is "more united than it has been in years."

Spangler, now counsel to the Republican national committee, said he discussed organizational matters with the party's presidential nominee, adding:

"I gave him the situation as I see it in the various states in a general way."

Spangler declined to make any prediction on the outcome of the election, asserting "I'm not a prognosticator." He described as "somewhat indicative" an independent poll released today which reported Dewey as having a four per cent edge over President Roosevelt in New York state.

Pie In His Eye
COFFEYVILLE, Kas.—The young people of the Christian church were holding a pie auction and Kurt Kime offered to be the target if anyone bid more than $5 for the pineapple cream. In no time at all the bid went to $6.75. Kime got it in the eye.

SHE STILL GOES FOR HER HERO

ROOSEVELT

Wallace remained unclarified. Wallace told reporters last night after a two-hour conference with the President, that their conversation dealt solely with China, from where the vice president has just returned.

A reporter asked if "you mean that the 1944 political situation was not mentioned?"

"That is right," Wallace replied.

Smiling, the President told the reporters how to get out of his office and a scramble started toward the doors.

Mr. Roosevelt, wearing a white shirt with a black bow tie and seersucker trousers, held his Han-negan correspondence on his desk before him as he read. He went through the sentences in slow deliberate words but once interrupted himself with a grin to say he had to have a cigarette.

Mr. Roosevelt stated in his letter to Hannegan that winning the war is the number one objective of this nation. Close behind it, he said, is determination for a victory that future world wars will be impossible. Third and final goal, he said, is to provide jobs and a decent standard of living for returning war veterans.

Hannegan's Letter

In his letter to Mr. Roosevelt, Hannegan said:

"I desire to report to you that more than a clear majority of the delegates to the national convention are legally bound by the action of their constituents to cast their ballots for your nomination as president of the United States. This action in the several states is a reflection of the wishes of the vast majority of the American people that you continue as President in this crucial period in the nation's history."

"I feel, therefore, Mr. President, that it is my duty as chairman of the Democratic national committee to report to you the fact that the national convention will during its deliberations in Chicago tender to you the nomination of the party as it is the solemn belief of the rank and file of Democrats, as well as many other Americans, that the nation and the world need the continuation of your leadership."

LEETONIA

The Brillhart Missionary society of St. Paul's Lutheran church was entertained at the home of Mrs. Joseph M. Woodward at Columbi-ana Monday evening. Mrs. Clarence Barnes, the leader, discussed the topic "Solid Foundations."

The meeting of the I. F. Mellinger Bible class of St. Paul's Lutheran church announced for this evening will be held next Tuesday evening, at the home of Charles Andemeyer. St. Paul's Sunday School association will meet in the church parlors at 7:30 tonight. Arrangements will be made for the church picnic Aug. 9 at Firestone park.

William Gray, U. S. N., San Francisco, is spending a 10-day leave with his mother, Mrs. Anna Gray.

Misses Carol Atkinson and Florence Wilhelm left Monday night for Chicago to spend the week with Miss Atkinson's brother, Ensign Paul W. Atkinson, who is attending the University of Chicago.

BRITISH ARMY

"Waves of German infantry were chopped to ribbons in a violent battle" for this hill, wrote Associated Press Correspondent Roger D. Green in a front dispatch. He quoted a British field officer as saying, "the Boche was slaughtered while we were sitting where we were."

Threaten Flank Positions
First signs that Field Marshal Gen. Edwin Rommel was being forced into a general withdrawal in the Cherbourg peninsula came when Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's columns, pushing south from Carantan and down the west bank of the Vire river, threatened German flank positions.

South of the Carantan the Americans drove within four miles of Periers, key road junction leading to the La Haye Du Puits front. The doughboys drove about a mile south of Sainteny, making good progress on the west side of the road where they captured La Forges, just south of Sainteny.

In expanding this sector the Americans also captured Graignes, four and one-half miles south-southwest of Carentan.

Similar progress was registered by Americans smashing west from the Vire and south along both banks of the river.

Price Ceilings Imposed On '44 Sweet Potatoes

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The Office of Price administration today imposed price ceilings on 1944 crop of sweet potatoes intended for result in a national average price of about 10 cents a pound, somewhat lower than last year.

The regulation provides ceilings effective July 15, designed to reflect an average farm price of $1.69 a bushel, as required by the office of economic stabilization.
